

Plant Aloha, Sustainable Farming Series
hawaiiansanctuary.com/plantaloha
Thursday April 20, 2017

Oscar Jaitt of Fruit Lover's Nursery
Please see fruitlovers.com for more information

Growing Exotic and Little Known Tropical Fruits in Hawaii

Today i am hoping to just give you a glimpse through a slideshow of some of the many exotic tropical fruits that you can grow in Hawaii. I will be going through some of the different plant families and telling you about some of the species that you may be aware of and others that you probably never heard of, but are worthwhile growing. Some of the plant families i hope to cover are:

Anacardiaceae: Mango family

Mango

Kuini

Kasturi

Lalo Jeewa

Maprang

Annonaceae: Cherimoya family

Cherimoya

Soursop

Atemoya

Rollinia

Poshte

Guanabana de Monte

Junglesop

Pindaiba

Kepel

Artocarpeae: Breadfruit family

Breadfruit

Camansi

Jackfruit

Marang

Pedalai

Kwai Muk

Lakoocha

Mendi

Wild Jack

Mentawak

Keladang

Durianeae: Durian family

Durian zybethinus

oxleyanus
graveolens
graveolens X zibethinus
kutajensis
dulcis
testudinarium

Sterculiaceae: Cacao family
Cacao
Mocambo (aka Pataxte)
Cupuacu
San Lorenzo
Speciosum
Java almond

If we have enough time we can talk a little about:

Sapindaceae: Lychee family
Lychee
Rambutan
Longan
Pulasan
Korlan
Bulala
Spanish Lime
Akee
Fijian Longan
Alupag
Sapotaceae: Mamey sapote family
Mamey Sapote
Eggfruit
Chico (Sapodilla)
Abiu
Starapple
Green Sapote
Ross Sapote
Jacana (aka Bully fruit)
Hairy abiu
Cinnamon Apple

To consult some useful books, some of which are free online, go to <http://fruitlovers.com/favoritebooks.html> and <http://fruitlovers.com/megalinks.html>
Any questions you can also email me at oscar@fruitlovers.com